TIPS FOR A HEALTHY, HAPPY, HYDRATED PIG

- Check your pig daily for fleas, ticks and other bug bites.
- Most lawn and garden products may be hazardous. Make sure that plants and fertilizers within your pig's reach are not toxic. This includes the products you use on your lawn.
- Have your pig's vaccinations updated. Even pet pigs are susceptible to swine diseases and colds/flu.
- Make sure Animal Poison Control and your vet's phone numbers are close at hand and available to all family members. ASPCA National Animal Poison Control Center at (888) 426-4435 (a $50 fee may be charged to a credit card depending on the poisoning).
- Cool ocean water is tempting to your pig. Do not allow them to drink too much sea water. Salt in the water will make them sick.
- Provide plenty of fresh water and shade for your pig.
- Pigs who are kept outside for an extended period of time should be provided a wading pool and clean water. (Recommended that the pool water be changed frequently.)

DID YOU KNOW?

Even on hot days pigs can get cold. Pigs who live in air conditioning will need a blanket or sheet to snuggle up with. Your pig's outdoor area should have shade and shelter to provide them a place to rest comfortably.

Pigs can sunburn easily. This applies to both black and white pigs. Apply sunblock regularly to avoid sunburn. Should your pig experience sunburn, you can treat them with a topical soothing agent, just as you would for yourself.

The majority of pigs can swim and love it. Swimming is great for exercise, but don't let your pig over do it. When first learning, they will be using new muscles and may tire quickly. NEVER LEAVE YOUR PIG UNATTENDED IN WATER!
